May Hillman Stock Company.

On next Thursday night dairy little Miss Hillman will open her engagement here at the opera house in "Floodtide" with Miss Hillman in a strong leading role, a character she portrays to perfection. May Hillman wins her audience by reason of her great personal charms, as well as by her attractive acting. She is exquisitely refined in her interpretation and more than all, she is beautiful. Few actresses have as fortunate natural endowment of good looks. Her face shows a profile which is almost faultless, and the poise of her head accentuates its symmetry of outline. A special charm of Miss Hillman is the sweetness and musical quality in her voice.

TRAIN AND TRACK.

Italian railways are the worst managed in all Europe, and they become worse every year.

A triweekly "train de luxe" is to be placed in service over the new Simplon route for passengers between England and Italy, via Calais, Paris, Lausanne and Milan.

Iron ties are extensively used on the German railroads. They look successful. The roadbed is certainly excellent. They are hollow and the edges set well into the soil and ballast.

Starting a train in the Latin countries is an impressive ceremony. First the station master rings a bell. This announces that he is through. Then the platform man blows a horn. His troubles are over. Then the engineer toots his readiness, and the cars start.

TOWN TOPICS.

New York still has to climb a great deal to reach the level of a mining camp.—Baltimore American.

Galveston has provided for the separation of the races in the street cars, the three rear seats going to the negroes. The white men will swear that the negroes have been given the best of it.—Houston Post.

The unburned district of San Francisco contains 40 per cent more houses than can be found in any other city on the coast. It is a terrible mistake to assume that the city was wholly destroyed. It has only been a trifle battered in its growth.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Distribution of Population.
Of every 1,000 inhabitants of the globe 558 live in Asia, 242 in Europe, 111 in Africa, 32 in America, 5 in Oceania and the polar regions and only 2 in Australia. Asia contains more than one-half of the total population of the earth and Europe nearly one-fourth.

Torture in Africa.
Among African tribes it is customary to torture prisoners of war. One of the legs of a prisoner is pushed through a hole in a heavy log and a spike driven through to hold it in place.
